ATTLEE DEAL IS AIMED TO AVERT SPLIT

London, April 24—(P)—Prime Minister Attlee's forces and rebellious laborite left wingers made a deal today aimed at keeping the labor government in power as long as possible and preventing a general election at this time.

The deal, with both sides making concessions, came after a third government leader, John Freeman, parliamentary secretary to the minister of supply, resigned in protest over the government's arms budget. He quit for broad-based reasons as labor minister Aneurin Bevan and board of trade president Harold Wilson: Britain's financing of her rearmament at the expense of the national free medicine scheme.

The labor government announced the appointment of Alfred Robens to Bevan's labor ministry post, and of Sir Hartley Shawcross as president of the board of trade. Robens, 40, has been parliamentary secretary to the ministry of fuel, and Shawcross, 49, has been attorney general.

The labor members of parliament held a stormy two-hour secret emergency meeting. It resulted in a deal in which the rebels, headed by Bevan and Wilson, pledged themselves to put party unity in the house of commons above the policy split.

In return, Attlee's forces agreed to permit Bevan to abstain if there is a vote in the house of commons tonight on the government bill to slap a 50 per cent charge on false teeth and spectacles. Bevan's supporters in the labor party must toe the line and support this bill.

Thus the labor party could expect to pull through should the conservatives tonight attempt to exploit the labor split by calling for a formal vote on a second reading of the bill to charge for spectacles and false teeth. The opposition already had expressed support for the bill, up for a second reading. Ordinarily it could be passed without a vote.

Attlee, looking pink-cheeked and cheerful, left the hospital for a while today to attend a memorial service for former foreign secretary Ernest Bevan at Westminster Abbey.

General Assembly Recesses In Mourning for Mrs. Fine

Harrisburg, April 24—(P)—The general assembly is recessed today in mourning for Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, wife of the governor. She died Sunday night in Philadelphia.

The recess will continue until next Monday, under a joint resolution adopted by the house and senate in a brief session yesterday. Calling a truce to controversy, both Republicans and Democrats joined in expressing condolences to Gov. Fine and his two young sons.

"This general assembly expresses its immeasurable grief over the sudden death of Mrs. Helen Fine and tenders to the governor its heartfelt sympathy in his hour of desolation and sorrow," said the lawmakers in their memorial resolution.

The senate voted a muffled "aye" in adopting the resolution. In the house, members stood silently for 30 seconds in assent to the action. And out of further consideration for the governor, the legislature recalled from his desk 17 bills which had previously passed and were awaiting his signature.

They would have become law this week without his signature under a constitutional provision giving the chief executive 10 days to veto legislation.

The house and senate each named a committee to attend Mrs. Fine's funeral tomorrow at Wilkes-Barre. All state offices will be closed tomorrow.

JOINING REDS ACTOR ADMITS WAS MISTAKE

Washington, April 24—(P)—Screen actor Marc Lawrence told the House Un-American Activities committee today that intellectual curiosity—"I was a curious kind of a Schmo"—led him to join the Communist party. He said this was "an unholly mistake."

Lawrence named screen actor Lionel Stander as "the guy who introduced me to the party line."

The fast-talking, 41-year old character actor testified that, after he came to Hollywood in 1938, Stander told him to go to classes at which Communists made speeches.

"These guys confused me, they gave me a headache," Lawrence testified. "After about 12 of these meetings, I left."

First, however, he said he signed a card at the request of someone—using a name he picked out of a newspaper and has since forgotten.

Stander is to be heard later. So are screen writer and novelist Abraham Polonsky, Agent George Willner and Actor Morris Karnovsky. Polonsky has been named by two previous witnesses as a Communist party member.

Actor John Garfield told the committee yesterday he was not a Communist himself and, furthermore, didn't even know any personally.

Committee members, meanwhile, complained about a Sunday night radio broadcast by Hollywood Columnist Hedda Hopper. They said she probably will be subpoenaed shortly to tell what she knows.

Rep. Kearney (R-N. Y.) told newsmen Miss Hopper had said there were known Reds in Hollywood. In New York later, the columnist said she had named no names.

In another move, Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) turned over to the house for action a request for arrest warrants against nine missing witnesses in the Hollywood investigation.

Mrs. L. B. Schofield Asks Legal Separation

Philadelphia, April 24—(P)—Mrs. L. B. Schofield, formerly of Warren, Pa., has asked for a legal separation from her husband, who is an attorney and former director of public safety.

The action, filed yesterday in common pleas court, listed grounds as indignities and desertion. The Schofields were married in 1923 and have four children. She is the former Helen Horton.

Schofield was born in Warren and the couple attended the same school together. The family residence is in suburban Chestnut Hill.

Gen. MacArthur to Review Parade in New York Saturday

New York, April 24—(P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has agreed to review New York's loyalty parade next Saturday afternoon.

About 200,000 persons are expected to march down 5th Avenue past the reviewing stand at 67th street.

The march, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was organized in 1948 to offset the annual May Day Communist parade. Word that MacArthur would participate was handed down by one of the general's aides.

While MacArthur remained secluded in his 37th floor Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite yesterday, his son, Arthur, 13, went to the circus at Madison Square Garden.

He was accompanied by Henry Ringling North, vice president of the circus, and a personal party of three colonels, four policemen and his Chinese nurse. Four newsmen also went along.

Arthur was introduced to some clowns and a few of the animals, including an orangutan that pulled his hair.

Meanwhile, back at the hotel between 20,000 and 30,000 pieces of mail have piled up. Two enlisted men—Staff Sergeant Eugene Christofferson, of Buhl, Idaho, and Master Sergeant Paul P. Basco, of Erie, Pa.—were kept busy sorting and opening it.

Rep. Gavin Declares in House Speech Acheson "Resignation Is Long Overdue"

Washington, April 24—(P)—Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) asserts secretary of State Dean Acheson is a bungler and appeaser who should quit or be fired.

Gavin, a member of the house armed services committee, said in a house speech yesterday Acheson's "resignation is long overdue." He added that if Acheson refuses to resign, "in my opinion it is mandatory that the congress should take action to remove him."

"The bungling foreign policies of the state department under his direction, his pro-British views, his coddling of Alger Hiss and similar ilk, his bungling policies of appeasement in world affairs, have brought about a confusion that may permit the Soviets to pick off the countries of the world one at a time and permit the war lords of the Kremlin to dominate the world," Gavin said.

"We are being sold out, and the quicker he is removed the better it will be for our nation. He has destroyed the unity of our country, destroyed the confidence of the American people in their government. And brought about a situation that may well spell disaster."

Gavin said "the tyrants of Moscow" and "Socialist Britain" were delighted by the ouster of General MacArthur but "liberty-loving Americans are shocked."

(NEA Newsmag) REDS GAIN DESPITE SLAUGHTERING BY U.N.—The Communists' 700,000-man spring offensive, checked momentarily by slaughtering Allied guns and planes, renewed its fury across the 95-mile Korean front. Dispatches indicated the 8th Army had pulled back as much as 10 to 12 miles below Chorwon (1), and that the Reds may be south of the 38th parallel below the Imjin River (2). Troops retreating from Chorwon blew up bridges after crossing the Han River. UN forces near the Hwachon Reservoir inflicted heavy losses as they held their ground against assaults. The Reds scored considerable gains above Inje (3). The four heaviest Communist attacks are reported west of Hwachon, southwest of Kumhwa, south of Chorwon and against the Imjin River line below the 38th parallel.

Retail Stores Given 30-day Extension For Filing of Price Control Charts

Washington, April 24—(P)—The government today granted 276,000 retail stores another 30-day extension—until May 30—to put their new, margin-type price control ceilings in effect.

In ordering the delay, Price Director Michael V. Disalle pointed out that until a retailer files his pricing charts, his ceiling prices still will be regulated under the general price freeze. This set price levels at the highest figure for which goods were sold during the base period last Dec. 19-Jan. 25.

After the new deadline of May 30, no retailer may lawfully sell any item covered by the margin-type price control order unless he has filed his pricing chart with an office of price stabilization district office.

Local Engagement Recalls Kidnapping

Sharon, April 24—(P)—A second daughter of William F. (Willie) Whittle—victim of a famous horse and buggy kidnapping—has announced her engagement.

She is Eleanor Thorp Whittle, of Sharon, whose late father was spirited away from a Sharon school in 1909, will wed Ralph R. Drury, of Youngstown, O. Last month, her sister, Julia, announced she will marry William F. Clinger, Jr., of Warren.

The kidnapping of the father, as a boy of eight, provided a national sensation. A Sharon couple, James and Helen Boyle, were arrested in the kidnapping after the boy's father paid a $10,000 ransom at Cleveland.

Former Vice Pres. Dies in Chicago of A Heart Ailment

Chicago, April 24—(P)—Gen. Charles Gates (Hell 'N' Maria) Dawes, banker and statesman who won fame in many fields during his cyclonic career, died suddenly last night.

The 85-year-old former vice president, who served under President Coolidge from 1925-29, died of coronary thrombosis in his suburban Evanston home. He was stricken while talking to his wife, Caro.

Dawes, who was in public life for more than 30 years and often was the center of fierce controversies and momentous events, had (Turn to Page Eight)

Small Crowd in Attendance at Hearing Called to Consider Zoning Ordinance

Less than 20 citizens turned out for a public hearing called by Warren borough council to consider proposed revisions to the borough's zoning ordinance. The meeting was held at the county court house, with Council President W. E. Rice presiding.

New provisions of the ordinance were explained, and several questions regarding outdoor advertising display signs, size of building lots and notice to property owners to appeal to the board of adjustment were discussed.

The new provisions make no major change in the present residential zoning, other than to further define these districts into classes. For example, the present ordinance provides for one residential area. The new provisions break down this single residential zone into three residential areas (R-1, R-2 and R-3), and outlines the uses for properties in each district.

The ordinance will now come before council at its May meeting, and will probably be passed on two readings. Another public hearing will then be held before the ordinance comes before council for third and final consideration.

Enemy Said to Have Thrown Nearly Half Million Men In Third South Korean Invasion

Tokyo, April 24—(P)—Nearly one-half million battle-tested Reds smashed a hole in the center of the United Nations line today in their third invasion of South Korea.

Communist troops streamed through the gap and bent back the right flank of the Allied line.

They were striking savagely with the aim of breaking the international Eighth Army into piecemeal units.

South Korean units manning the center of the 100-mile line crumbled before the fury of the Red spring offensive. Their retreat exposed other Allied divisions.

Frontline officers considered the situation serious. But headquarters commanders were confident the rejuvenated Allied forces could stem the offensive.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the grenade-packing paratrooper who shored up the morale of Allied forces before he succeeded General MacArthur as supreme commander, visited the front.

Ridgway said the great battle "well may prove decisive." He called it the greatest Red offensive yet launched, but warned that the Allies probably have not yet met its full strength.

On the eastern flank Red Koreans overran Inje. They struck with surprising strength. Defense of the town, four miles north of the border, collapsed.

South Koreans gave way before a similar Chinese assault in the center. The Korean retreat exposed the flanks of other U. N. units.

Reds rammed through, deepening their wedge south of the 38th parallel. Censorship withheld the precise distance. Earlier in the day the Chinese had pushed four miles into South Korea. And they were still pressing forward over the dusty hills on foot and by horseback.

Ridgway declared: "It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops."

An Eighth Army spokesman said Red casualties were 10 times those of U. N. forces. On the eastern front, an officer said Red losses there were 20 times those of the Allies.

Field commanders described the situation on the central front as critical. But Ridgway said, "I have complete confidence." Korean officials were not so confident. Great columns of refugees clogged the highways south of the central and western front.

Only around Hwachon reservoir, east of the breakthrough, did the U. N. line hold firmly. Outflanked Allies beat off repeated attacks at Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir.

"This is a real war now," a divisional officer said. "We are dealing with an enemy that has large numbers, lots of artillery for the first time and the obvious intention of wiping us out."

"We know that. And we are waiting for him. He has taken some terrible losses already. And he is going to take some more."

20-Year-Old Wrangle Over Garrett Snuff Fortune Back in Court in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, April 24—(P)—The 20-year-old wrangle over the Garrett snuff fortune was back in the courts yesterday, and more than 350 persons who think they have a stake in the millions were on hand.

The outpouring of claimants, new and old, was prompted by a final audit of the thousands of bids for a share in the more than $21,000,000 estate left by Mrs. Henrietta E. Garrett, who died in 1930. The will assigned only $62,000 in bequests.

At yesterday's hearing, claims amounting to $955,000 were filed on behalf of counsel for the administrators, the master in chancery, his predecessor and various examiners. A total of $704,943 already has been paid them for their services.

The master's report, submitted last November, named three persons, now dead, as the rightful heirs. As recommended, a third of the holdings would go to each of two estates, and the other third to the United States government as claimant of the estate of the third heir, a German citizen.

But the court is in no way bound to abide by the master's report. Thus final decision concerning distribution of assets will be made by Judge Charles Klein, who yesterday defined rules of procedure for the claimant's appearance in court, then adjourned the hearing until tomorrow.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE STILL DECLINING

Payments for public assistance in Pennsylvania have shown a decline for the third consecutive month during March, according to figures from the Department of Public Assistance.

About $178,000 less was spent in March than during February, resulting principally from the improvement in employment conditions throughout the state. Payments in March of 1950 totalled over four million dollars more than this year.

Individual county expenditures have not yet been released. Payments for old-age assistance and aid to dependent children constituted about 75% of the total monies paid out.

During hot weather it's especially important to disinfect and deodorize ice boxes and refrigerators regularly. Clorox is ideal for these purposes, and for removing stains and destroying mold as well.

McKINNEY OPPOSED

McKinney of Franklin, head of a House committee studying possible restriction of the sale of BB guns, said he opposed the measure because "it is a matter of parental authority." He expressed the opinion it would be defeated by the committee. McKinney pointed out that more children are killed in accidents involving sleds and bicycles, and asked: "Why should we not also legislate against them, too?" It is interesting in this connection that Mr. McKinney suffered the loss of an eye through a BB gun accident when a boy.

An Expression of Appreciation From School Music Club

Warren School Music Boosters Club, Inc., has asked the Times-Mirror to publicly express to the following its deep appreciation for the wholehearted cooperation which contributed so materially to the success of the annual Bradford-Warren Band Exchange concert.

To school board; the high school art and commercial departments; the high school and Beauty cafeterias for preparing and serving the band meals; the food committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Pearson; ticket committee, headed by Mrs. Florence Stevens; the candy committee, composed of Mrs. Arthur Chapman and Mrs. Howard Boyd; and the students who helped with the candy sales.

The candy committee reports it exceeded its goal of sufficient funds for one uniform, with net proceeds amounting to $80.15. This project was sponsored by the Beginner and Dugaree Bands, as their contribution to the Music Boosters Band Uniform Fund, and the committee extends its grateful thanks to all who contributed candy and those who contributed cookies for the students' dessert.

While the accounting is not complete on the ticket sales, the treasurer is confident that, once expenses are paid, profits will buy at least one uniform.

At the Library Theatre
Sunday-Monday-Tuesday

Based on the amazing true-experience story of a dashing undercover man, Warner Bros. "I Was a Communist for the F.B.I." comes to the Library theatre screen on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story takes Matt Cvetic, Federal operative, on a dangerous mission into the lair of an espionage ring. To fulfill the requirements of this duty, Cvetic turned his back on all previous connections. He became one of the very people he had been assigned to investigate, a target for the abuse of his friends and the bullets of his enemy, living a lonely, double life until the F. B. I. gave the signal to move in.

Essaying the real-life role of Matt Cvetic, Frank Lovejoy follows such outstanding portrayals as the sergeant in "Break-through" and the wise-cracking photographer in "Goodbye, My Fancy," roles which have made critics hail him as one of the most promising of Hollywood's newer stars.

Dorothy Hart, the beautiful actress who scored in "Raton Pass" and Philip Carey, the newcomer who debuted in "Operation Pacific," head the featured cast.

UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE

After 19 waterless days while imprisoned in a feed barrel, a Plymouth Rock hen owned by Charles Harvey of Pleasantville R. D. 2, in Crawford county, is recovering. The hen was found when Harvey went to the barrel to fill it. It is surmised it landed on the lid of the barrel which apparently turned over and the fowl fell inside before the lid settled into place. During its ordeal it laid seven eggs and ate some of the feed in the barrel.

FANTASTIC STORY ABOUT A-BOMB

Look Magazine this week publishes what it says is the first eye-witness description of the A-Bomb, a tale that has already stirred considerable controversy between the author and government officials in Washington.

The story, according to Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press science editor, comes from Jim Berryman, Washington Star cartoonist and illustrator, who Look says, took an authorized flight in a B-50 carrying an A-bomb in a practice run. Look says the Air Force cleared the story, and Berryman's drawings.

(In Washington, however, the Atomic Energy Commission denied that Berryman saw a real atomic bomb and quoted the Air Force as saying he did not see a representation of one. The AEC statement:

("The writer of the article in the current issue of Look Magazine did not actually see an actual atomic weapon and the Air Force has assured the Atomic Energy Commission that the writer did not see a representation of an atomic weapon.")

As he saw it the present A-bomb is as big as a living room. Its shape is like the hot water tank in your basement, length about 20 feet, diameter 9 or 10 feet. Nose rounded. Tail slightly tapered, but stubby, and fitted with four wings.

The trigger is set in the tail, and Berryman says it is about the size of an umbrella stand. He says he does not know how this trigger works. The usual unofficial report has been that the trigger feels the atmospheric pressure and explodes the bomb at any height set. Berryman says the bomb he saw was set to explode about 40 seconds after being dropped.

The bomb was not actually dropped. Berryman does not say whether it was really live, or only the dummy whose exterior is that of the A-bomb and whose weight and interior balance are the same.

Berryman says the weight is ten thousand pounds. It is much lighter than many of the unofficial estimates that have been published.

But even at 10,000 pounds, the bomb is so big that in loading the plane goes through some of the motions of a hen about to set on an egg. The nose of the plane is lifted by a crane, so that the bomb can be wheeled in beneath the bomb bay.

The airmen call the bomb the thing, the panic, the ostrich egg and just the bomb. Berryman says there are hundreds trained for atomic bombing. He quotes an unidentified officer on accuracy of the drops. This officer said a person might order it dropped on the front step or in the back yard.

The run which Mr. Berryman took was to an American city, not named, but a fair sample of a Russian city target. He said he took off from Hunter Air Force base at Savannah.

GOLDEN RAIN

The New York Times

Foraythia opens its yellow flowers, and no matter what the state of the sky overhead the spring sun seems to shine. The parkways in the city begin to glow, the suburban streets gleam, and country roads sparkle wherever some foresighted soul planted a foraythia bush. Its warm and lively color transforms a landscape just beginning to revive with green and grassy life. Its gold is the coin of spring tiptoeing up to the valleys.

The botanical name comes from one William Forsyth, a British botanist, and some tales have it that he introduced the bush from the Orient. That seems unlikely. Botanists are, on the whole, modest men who name their finds for their friends, not for themselves. In some areas it is called "Golden Bells," which is not too apt, since the flower is four petaled, opens wide, and has little resemblance to any bell. Occasionally it is known as "Golden Rain," a better name by far. An untrimmed bush with its withes spattered with bloom is like a gushing fountain of golden water bubbling high and falling back to the pool from which it sprang. After a spring rain such a bush is dazzling with raindrops, each of which seems to catch the gold of the flowers. Then, indeed, it is golden rain.

Now it is merely gold, by whatever name, the generous yellow that makes spring so lively to the eye and so up-lifting to the heart. It won't endure. A week of warmth and sunshine and it will begin to fade. But by then there will be other yellows and pinks and reds and lavenders in sight, buds opening everywhere. But right now it is a sunny, golden delight to look upon.

Here And There

This 'N That: Two North Warren students, Lewis McCollough, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. McCollough, and James Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rock, are planning a voyage to Pittsburgh next month in their canoe named "The Panther", as a feature event in connection with the University of Pittsburgh spring festival; they plan to leave here May 12, make the voyage in about two and one-half days, arriving in the Smoky City at noon on the 14th to head a parade of floats to the school; they are both members of the Sigma Pi fraternity at the school. . . . President Harry Truman has written his endorsement of the interfaith observance of National Family Week, set for May 6 to 13, with emphasis "on the role which the family must play in preserving faith in our religious and democratic principles. . . . C. E. Hooper survey shows that Gen. MacArthur's parade through New York City last week was viewed on television screens in 43.6 per cent of New York homes equipped with sets, and the same rating gave MacArthur 48.7 per cent for his speech before Congress Thursday; previous high rating was 34.3 per cent achieved last month during the New York hearing of the U. S. senate crime committee. . . . Greeting cards for Mother's Day, May 13, have made their appearance, incidentally Father's Day is Sunday, June 17th. . . . Will Shroud of Corry, reported Sunday that while fishing the south branch of French creek he caught an albino trout, being entirely white. . . . State Police and Corry officers are searching for a salesman who passed an undisclosed number of worthless checks on merchants there Saturday. . . . A large two-motored craft swooped down on Titusville Saturday afternoon and roared less than 500 feet over rooftops, and residents of that community are still wondering about the identity of the pilot. . . . According to reports the steel industry is facing a critical scrap supply shortage that could nullify its expansion program and dealers as a result, are searching oil leases, farms and automobile graveyards for scrap metal. . . . Warren citizens who had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, wife of Governor John S. Fine, when she visited here last year during the campaign, remembered her as a woman of engaging personality and pleasing appearance; the first lady made a host of friends during her brief stay here who were grieved to learn of her passing. . . . Boy Scouts of Troop 10, Holy Redeemer church, are engaged in an ambitious project that is expected to add a nice sum to their camp fund, in a tree planting program on the property of the Barley Nursing Home at Venturatown, and when they complete the job the boys will have planted approximately 5,000 trees and bushes, with about 19 of the 23 members participating. . . . The 105th annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Pennsylvania, one of the governing bodies of the York rite in Freemasonry, opened in Bradford Sunday and will conclude with the conferring of the Order of Malta this evening.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

MacArthur Dispute Sparks New Foreign Policy Probe

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Behind the fuss stirred up by President Truman's relieving General MacArthur of his Far Eastern commands, there is a much larger issue. This is the probing of America's whole foreign policy.

What new crisis will drive the MacArthur case off the air and the front pages cannot be predicted with certainty. But in the field of international relations it is pointing to more criticism of the State Department, another "re-examination" of foreign policy. And to personify the mistrust of this policy, there are already new demands for the firing of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State. Since President Truman fired General MacArthur, the general's defenders are demanding a scalp for a scalp.

The new trend seems to be a broad accusation that Secretary Acheson's policy is completely tied to the tail of the British lion. This is a variant. The former charge was that State Department policy was dictated by Communists. Now it's the British Socialists who are supposed to be dictating American foreign policy moves.

One story going around is that Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador in Washington, called at the State Department and delivered his government's ultimatum that unless General MacArthur were replaced, the British would withdraw from the North Atlantic Pact.

THE story doesn't make sense on its face because the British need the North Atlantic Pact more than the United States. But for the record, it is officially denied as a complete lie by both the State Department and the British Embassy.

There are differences of opinion between the two governments:

1. The British object to some clauses in the draft of a Japanese peace treaty drawn up by John Foster Dulles. In particular, the British believe that the island of Formosa, now seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government, should be eventually—though not now—returned to the Chinese Communist government, and not annexed to Japan.
2. The U. S. position is that the Japanese should relinquish all claims to Formosa, but that actual settlement of the island's status is years away and cannot be foreseen now. In the meantime, it will remain the seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, which the U. S. still recognizes, though the British do not.
3. The British recognize Mao Tse-tung's government not because they approve of it, they say, but because it is in actual control of the China mainland. For the same reason, the British think Red China should be admitted to the United Nations, though they are not pushing such recognition now.
4. The U. S. government rejects both these positions.

In spite of its views on Red China, the British are supporting the war in Korea. They now have in Korea two infantry brigades of about 10,000 men and an aircraft carrier task force of 13 vessels manned by 12,000 men. The British are now moving to increase their ground forces in Korea to a full division.

5. The British have differed with the American tactical decisions in Korea. On the original crossing of the 38th parallel, the British learned through Indian Ambassador Panikar at Peking that if the UN forces made this move, the Chinese Communists would enter the war. On the basis of this report the British tried to argue the U. S. out of making this advance. But when the decision was made, the British troops supported it and fought right up to the Yalu.
6. The British position now is said to be that the UN commander—General Ridgway—cannot be bound in a tactical sense not to cross the 38th parallel again. But if any deep invasion of North Korea is to be made, the political situation should be reconsidered.
7. In these conflicting viewpoints of the two governments, it would seem that neither is leading the other around by a ring in the nose. There are many other issues on which they differ, and on which American views prevail.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The recent return of a great American from the Far East has caused a most welcome revival of the good old Yankee spirit.

The return of Our General has aroused the American people to a greater extent than any other event in the memory of most of us. The General has stated that he loves this home-coming. Yes, he has come home with his dear wife and child. But he has no home like the rest of us.

Before he left Japan, the Japanese people told the man who had conquered them, whom they first hated, then respected and finally trusted and loved, that they, the Japanese people, would furnish him a home in Japan to live in as long as he chose. This is certainly one of the greatest turnarounds in history.

Yes, you get it; can we let the grateful Japanese people beat us to it?

Here is the pitch, boys and girls. Let every American dig down in his jeans for just ONE CENT (one penny each). This will be enough to build the MacArthur's a million dollar home. Let them choose the site, architecture and everything about it.

The very fact that every American contributed just a little would please them no end.

No, we can't let this old soldier just fade away. We want him to live and live and live. So let's make it easy for this most illustrious American family to live.

LET'S GO!

Committeeman W. J. Lopez awarded second class badges to Peter Molinaro and Larry Currie. First Class badges were awarded Joe Book, James Lopez and Richard Eggleston by Father Bauer.

Highlight of the evening was presentation of the Star Badge to Robert Fitzgerald, the first member of the troop to attain this rank. Scout Executive Sanford was in charge of this ceremony, and the badge was pinned on the scout by his mother.

Prizes in a troop bird house building contest were distributed by Committeeman Joe Gray.

The Newschart above shows relative number of casualties suffered by major UN forces fighting in Korea. Also given are the percentage of casualties and the approximate total of troops supplied by each nation. Note the break in the bar representing U.S. losses. To show this bar in relative proportion to the others would require a chart about 12 feet high. In addition to the nine nations listed, several others have forces in Korea but have suffered negligible or no losses. These include: New Zealand, South Africa, Belgium, Thailand and Sweden. Highest percentage of casualties to troops involved was suffered by the French battalion attached to the U. S. 23rd Division. This unit suffered heavy losses in a delaying action during the first retreat north of Seoul and in hand-to-hand fighting near Wonju. The Turks also lost heavily in these actions.

Suffering Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-down Conditions and Nervousness When Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

Mrs. Anna Lavergne, Church Point, Louisiana: "You don't know how wonderful it feels to be in such good condition—after feeling run-down. I had a very poor appetite—in fact, food didn't agree with me at all. I had a hard time sleeping nights . . . sometimes I would stay awake until one or two in the morning and then the next day I would feel tired and groggy all day long. You have no idea how terrible I felt. Now all this is gone . . . yes, now that I have been taking HADACOL, I feel wonderful. I get lots of good, sound sleep, have a fine appetite and just lots of energy. I can eat any kind of food now and it doesn't bother me a bit. I just can't begin to thank HADACOL."

F. W. Horton, 108 74th Ave., Houston, Texas, says about his little son: "Lee was very weak and run-down and just didn't want to eat at all. He started gaining weight and eats real well now, and has been feeling real good. HADACOL has been good for Lee and I heartily recommend it to everyone."

Richard Krabill, 3118 Murfield Road, Toledo 14, Ohio: "I am an apprentice pharmacist and I go to the University of Toledo. Going to school and working until 9:30 gets pretty tiresome. I was getting tired and run-down keeping pace with all I had to do. Being married and having a family, I am compelled to work after school. I work in a pharmacy here in Toledo. After selling HADACOL here in the store, I decided I'd try it. You have no idea how much it has picked me up. I'm telling you truthfully, HADACOL is the answer to all my tiredness from sitting up late at night doing homework after I come home from work. Already I have won customers on HADACOL. I am 31 and a veteran of World War II."

HADACOL CAN HELP YOU . . .

. . . if your system lacks these essential elements, you will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Sugar Grove WSCS Is Planning For Banquet

Sugar Grove, Apr. 24—Holding their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. F. A. Schoonover, WSCS members of the Methodist church discussed plans for a mother and daughter banquet. Mrs. Schoonover, Mrs. Frank Conklin and Mrs. Ernest Bolling were appointed as the committee.

Mrs. Hosea Gourley was program leader on the theme, "Be Ye Perfect," with Mrs. Delmar Mickelson reading an interesting article.

Mrs. Walter Sweeney conducted the business session, when the two groups, the WSCS and the C and O Circle, voted to continue as one organization and Mrs. Frank Dorn was named chairman of the nominating committee. It was decided the group will sell "pie baskets," and members were asked to send cards to the following persons who are ill: Mrs. Catherine Carr, Margaret Smith and Mrs. Watson Howard. Mrs. Mickelson was elected delegate to the district meeting in Warren on May 15.

Mrs. Schoonover read a letter received from Rev. and Mrs. Carleton Foss in Malaya and showed pictures which they had sent. They reported their young daughter, Maxine, has been brought home from the school she has been attending, the move being taken as a safety measure because of Communist raiders in the country. The family is well, they write, and Mrs. Foss has learned the native tongue to the extent where she is now able to preach in it.

Concluding the meeting, Mrs. Schoonover, Mrs. Mickelson and Mrs. Harry Sarvis served refreshments from a table attractively decorated in a yellow and white color scheme.

How to Keep Father From Taking Role of the Villain

If you want your children to be as close to their father as they are to you, don't do any of these things:

One. Don't ever say to them, "Don't tell your father." The mother who tries to avoid unpleasantness by conspiring with her children to keep upsetting news from their father is in effect saying to them, "Your father won't understand. We can't count on him."

Two. Don't blame their father for any rules that are difficult to enforce or that you feel are too harsh. "Your father told me not to let you do that" makes Dad a tyrant. But sharing the responsibility for an unpopular rule or a "No" that is going to be resented shows children that their parents are standing together for their welfare.

Three. When asked for permission to go some place, don't say, "It's all right with me if it is with your father; but you'll have to ask him." That's another way of giving the child the idea that you want them to do whatever will make them happy, but that their father may not be so understanding.

FATHER GETS THE BLAME

FOUR. Don't let the children see that their father has done something to hurt your feelings. Children naturally turn on anyone they think has done their mother a wrong, and what may be just a passing difference between your husband and you may seem far more serious to your children. And it will be father who gets the blame.

Five. Don't use their father to threaten them with. "If you don't behave, your father is going to hear about it" may make Junior behave, but it will also make him afraid of his father.

In questions involving family finances don't say: "Dad says we can't afford it." Rather, "We can't afford it" is the fair way to make that explanation.

Welcome Extended
Parents at High School Open House

Warren High School faculty members put their best foot forward last night and extended a genuine welcome to the parents who responded to their invitation to attend an "open house" and get-acquainted conferences.

Convening in the auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, parents were welcomed by Principal Floyd W. Bathurst, who explained the purpose of the open house and the set-up arranged for conferences in separate groups according to classes.

After each group had assembled in the classroom designated for its meeting, general school plans were outlined, importance of subject selection was stressed, and parents were asked for their suggestions. The remainder of the time was taken up with an informal discussion period and with individual conferences between parents and faculty members.

Joseph Passaro was in charge of senior parents; Mr. Bathurst talked to Class of 1952 parents; Miss Edna Glasser, parents of '53 pupils, and Robert R. Young took over the discussion concerning sophomores coming in from Beatty Junior High School in the fall.

I NEVER BOUGHT STOCKS
BEFORE... HOW DO I GO ABOUT IT?

Here are some questions that people ask:

Can I choose any broker I want? You certainly can. Member firms of the New York Stock Exchange have 1,600 offices in 396 cities.

Suppose I have only $500 to invest? Whether you have $500 or $5,000 to invest, you will get courteous, intelligent attention. Handling orders for a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange.

Will I be high-pressed? Helping people invest their money is a serious business. The broker's job is to help you—not to high-pressure you—and that goes even if you just want to talk things over.

How much will the broker charge me? Nothing for information or advice. If you decide to invest, he will charge you a commission based on the price and number of shares you order. The average commission on the great majority of stock transactions on the Exchange is about one per cent.

Are women customers welcome in a brokerage office? You can count on it. Women are important investors.

Once you've decided why you want to invest—considered the risks as well as the rewards—you'll probably have specific questions of your own. Your questions will be answered simply and directly—and without charge—at any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

If you do become a stockholder, you'll have plenty of company. All kinds of people in all walks of life own stocks in American businesses. And millions of these people made their first purchase through Stock Exchange firms.

Dressen Has a 4-1 Answer For Philadelphia's Jim Konstanty

By The Associated Press

Meet, King, Palica, Branca and Newcombe. Not a Brooklyn law firm but the Dodgers' answer to Jim Konstanty.

As brilliant as Konstanty was last year when he helped Philadelphia win the pennant as the league's most valuable player, his rescue work never matched the sensational relief pitching of this quartet.

The season is only a week old, but the four already have pitched 13 innings all told (excluding Newcombe's route-going effort against the New York Giants), without surrendering a run. They have yielded only three safeties.

No wonder Manager Chuck Dressen is chortling with glee as his charges sit comfortably on top of the National League standings with five victories in six starts.

Erv Palica and Clyde King hurled 4 2/3 innings of excellent relief ball yesterday as the Dodgers outlasted Boston's Braves, 2-1, in a 16-inning marathon on a clutch run-scoring single by Carl Furillo. Palica rescued starter Joe Hatten, getting the side out after Hatten had walked the first two batters to face him.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' half-game lead over the Chicago Cubs, who nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1, on a ninth inning double by Andy Pafko that scored Hal Jeffcoat.

The Phils handed the Giants their fifth successive defeat with an 8-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights to gain their first triumph over Jim Hearn since he came up to the majors in 1947. The righthander had whipped the Phils nine times. Rookie Jocko Thompson held the Giants to six hits.

Vic Raschi pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over his Philadelphia "cousins" for his second success of the season—his 17th lifetime win in 19 decisions with the Athletics. Vic Wertz' ninth inning home run with two mates on base gave the Tigers a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the only other American League game. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In another after-dark clash, the Cardinals shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in St. Louis. Veteran Harry Brecheen scattered eight hits to beat Ken Raffensberger, an old Redbird nemesis. Shortstop Solly Hemus accounted for both St. Louis runs with a single and triple.

Owner after owner...Year after year-says
"IT'S DODGE FOR DEPENDABILITY"

MORE MILEAGE
LONGER CAR LIFE
DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it—without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."

—says Harry H. Hurst, Houston, Texas

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say it's Dodge for dependability."

—says Mrs. Nelson Swisher, Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my 1948 Dodge still has that 'new car' pep and feel. Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."

—says George Kieffer, St. Louis, Mo.

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD OF OWNERS who know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving" ... "After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" ... "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast. Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle, squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride
Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float"

you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks ... make them last years longer. And with this traditional Dodge quality of dependability goes extra headroom, leg room, elbow room found in no other car ... "Watchtower" visibility in every direction. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

Come in Today

Take 5 minutes to check Dodge dependability in long life, in extra comfort and safety, low-cost maintenance and gas economy. It will be the most profitable 5 minutes you ever spent.

Warren High Track Team Preps For 1st Meet Friday at Beaty

Warren High's track squad of more than 60 boys, coached by Harry Hutchings, are putting the finishing touches on their warm-up drills in preparation for the Dragon's opening meet Friday afternoon at Beaty field.

First opponent for the thinclads will be Titusville.

The local squad has a nucleus of five lettermen, and is expected to make a good showing. They will have a high mark to shoot at, however, since the 1950 trackers came through their schedule unbeaten. Returning from the '50 squad, which set three all-time Warren High records and tied a fourth, are Dean Blair, John Watt, Ronald Yeskey and Bob Simpson.

The 1950 showing was the best since 1927 when Monte Scott chalked up two individual records and was a member of two record holding relay teams.

The SIREN of SILVER VALLEY

By PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 4
"YOU must be a friend of the Stars."

"I'm John Starr's daughter. We settled in this valley first, but that hussy who owns the Double D is bent on having the whole range. Well, she isn't going to get it! She can dazzle men and twist them around her finger but she'll never drive the Stars from Silver Valley!"

"I don't like the way you speak about Mrs. Denton," he told her stiffly. "She happens to be a friend of mine."

The hazel eyes flashed. "So she's got you in her clutches, too! You'll probably wind up like Walt Kirk and Ben Dowd, growling over her like dogs over a bone."

"Of the two, it's you who acts more like the hussy," he told her sharply. "I'm sure Mrs. Denton wouldn't say things like that about you."

"She can't!"
He held his anger in check. "Have you any basis for your accusations of Mrs. Denton?"

"Yes! I'm a woman myself. She can fool the men but I can see through her like glass!"

He stared hard at her for a moment, then turned and went out of the cabin. When he rode past on his way across the clearing the door was closed.

It was late afternoon when he rode out of the hills behind the Double D and there were a dozen or more men lounging about the bunkhouse waiting for the supper triangle to sound. They eyed him curiously and Shag Dolan glared belligerently. Jeff rode around to the front of the house and drew rein at the low gallery.

Diana was lying in a hammock, apparently asleep, and he sat there looking at her, struck anew by her doll-like beauty. And as he watched the long-lashed lids flutter open and the blue eyes, misty with sleep, regarded him. Recognition came and she sat up in the hammock. "It's you!"

Chapter 4
Jeff's arm and drew him towards the steps. "Come in and I'll show you the east side of the house and to a room at the end of the corridor. She said, 'I have the room next to this one; it'll be a comfort to know you're within call. I think you'll find everything you need. José will bring your things and I'll tell Maria to set another place at the table. See you at supper.'"

He hesitated. "Is it customary for your foreman to live in the house?"

"Heavens, no! Shag Dolan slept with the crew. But you're different; I'll feel safer with you near me. And please don't worry about the conventions; José and his wife Maria live in the house also."

Diana led him through a big livingroom and into a wing on the east side of the house and to a room at the end of the corridor. She said, "I have the room next to this one; it'll be a comfort to know you're within call. I think you'll find everything you need. José will bring your things and I'll tell Maria to set another place at the table. See you at supper."

He came in with his blanket roll while he was washing up. He donned a clean shirt and scarf and was ready when José brought the summons to supper. The table was set in the diningroom and Diana was there waiting for him. The housekeeper, a fat elderly woman half Mexican and half Indian, waited on them silently. Jeff said to Diana during the meal.

"Have you any ideas about driving the Stars from the valley that you'd like to talk over with me?"

She looked up at him and he saw that her eyes had gone cold. "You are in complete charge, Jeff. I want them driven out and I'm not particular how you go about it. I'm leaving it entirely to you."

"It's a big responsibility. The Stars have lived here for a long while; this is their home and cattle raising is their living."

"It's free range," she told him, and the chill had crept into her voice. "They forfeited the right to live in the valley when they murdered my husband."

"We're just assuming they murdered him, Diana. I wish I was sure."

Chapter 4
voice was soft, with the slightest bit of reproach in it.

"Dan Denton was my husband, Jeff. I told you I didn't love him, but I do owe him this much, to drive the ones who are responsible for his death out of the valley. I needed a good man to help me do it and I was sure I'd found him in you. But if you have any doubts I'd rather you didn't undertake it. I want a man who believes in my cause, who will fight for me no matter what the odds. I'm ready, anxious, to reward that man handsomely; I'd give him anything in my power to give. But he must believe in me and my cause utterly and without reservation."

He gripped her shoulders tightly, in his earnestness almost roughly. He was stirred to the depths. "Suppose the man who did this for you was to fall in love with you. You said you'd give him anything in your power to give. Suppose as a reward he asked you to marry him. What would you say then, Diana?"

She studied him for a moment, then curling lashes masked the cornflower-blue eyes. "I think," she said in a low voice, "that if he were a man like you I—I might grant him—that reward."

He cried, "Diana!" and his arms slipped about her shoulders drawing her to him; but she put both hands against his chest and strained away from him, shaking her head and frowning. "No, Jeff. The reward must be earned before it can be claimed."

He released her reluctantly, stepped backwards a pace. "You're right. I guess I'm crazy, Diana; I never had anything hit me so hard so suddenly. It's been just a day since I first saw you, but in those twenty-four hours I haven't been able to think of anything but you."

She said slowly, "I won't be happy until the Stars are driven from Silver Valley."

"We'll drive them out," he said tersely. "But there are some things to be done first. One of them is to notify Shag Dolan that I'm in charge now. You want me to do it?"

"I wish you would. But be careful, Jeff. He's a bad actor; a gunman."

He nodded and got the hat he had tossed on a chair. She said, "You haven't your gun."

"I don't want it. I've got to put it over without a gun."

He set the hat firmly on his head and went out.

Cancer Crusade Endorsed by People In Practically Every Walk of Life

People in practically every walk of life are endorsing the 1951 Cancer Crusade, according to reports coming in from the national headquarters, American Cancer Society.

A majority of the industries throughout the nation have pledged their support and it is significant that a number of large companies have instituted programs of year-round cancer control.

Companies such as these are directly contributing to cancer control by setting up examination centers where employees are given complete cancer detection exams by expert physicians and surgeons.

The American Cancer Society is helping to initiate similar programs in many industries and in others, free pamphlets and study materials are being made available to all who wish them.

Organized labor is lending its endorsement along this same line of endeavor. Various unions have already favored the joint educational and fund-raising drive and officials of other labor groups are lending actual financial support.

Parent organizations, such as the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations long have been supporters of the cancer control movement.

Labor organizations are proving an important factor in bringing information about cancer to more and more people every year. In a single year the two major unions distributed on a national level more than one million pieces of literature to their locals. In addition, the 61 divisions of ACS have supplied countless numbers of pamphlets and booklets advising people what to do about cancer.

Support by farm organizations has been given every phase of the Cancer Crusade. Granges and other groups hearing cancer speakers and viewing cancer films. The principal help farm organizations can give, it is pointed out by officials, is in getting the message across to farm families. There is no better way to reach many of them than through their own organizations.

While many organizations and individuals have already given to this year's Crusade, the man in the streets will have his opportunity on Friday and Saturday of this week, when special Cancer Crusade Tag Days will be held in Warren borough and in several larger communities of the county.

It takes about 250 pounds of coal to make five auto tires and tubes.

CRUSADE POSTER — The family, America's greatest asset, is the theme for the 1951 Cancer Crusade poster. The American Cancer Society, which is seeking $14,565,000 for its programs of research, education and service, points out that one of every two families in America eventually will experience a cancer death. But this trend can be changed, the ACS insists, if everyone helps to support cancer control by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Gas Company to Drill New Well In Carter Hill Area

Corry Journal: Despite the absence of gas drilling activity on Carter Hill for the past few years, the Pennsylvania Gas Company hasn't given up in its experimental drilling.

This became definite with the disclosure by William H. Locke, president of the utility, that drilling on a sixth well will start as soon as the rig arrives.

Fat Flanagan of the Flanagan Brothers drilling firm of Bradford has been contacted to put down the new well and has purchased a new drilling rig which is being shipped here from Kansas.

Already a bulldozer has plowed out a road to the site of the latest and within 600 feet of the first well on the Frank Cooper farm and only successful well put down on Carter Hill where the PGC drilled five wells there in 1946 and 1947.

Mr. Locke, in commenting on the fact that four of the wells were unsuccessful although drilled to an average depth of 4,400 feet, explained that utility officials were hopeful that they had struck a very large gas pool with the first well. However, drilling of the four dry wells has apparently proved the underground gas is contained in a smaller "pocket" and it is in the hope of tapping this pocket that the sixth well will be put down near the first hole.

"It's also possible," Mr. Locke stated, "that a seventh well will be drilled but this depends upon the results from the sixth one."

ity still has hopes for the Carter Hill district is the report that it has recently added to its lease holdings by leasing an additional 160 acres from Leo J. Schuknecht.

While no accurate figures are available, Carter Hill residents estimate the PGC along with other utilities have between 15,000 and 20,000 acres under lease there at 50 cents an acre per year.
